We divided among three separate documents. The first tab on each provides the full comment info. The # the comment was assigned corresponds to the # it was giving online (see <http://coastalmanagement.noaa.gov/nonpoint/oregonDocket/publicComments.html>)

If it already exists, yes please, that would be great (though I suspect that it won't really be necessary till after the roll-up comments document is more fully populated).

Yep. We have an excel file with each coded comment that ties it to the specific comment letter (and pg) the comment came from. Happy to share if you like.

But internally, those will be available, correct? I'm just trying to figure out whether I can confirm the summaries adequately characterize the comments.

The comment codes are only for internal tracking purposes. We do not plan to include in the external release.

Allison,

This document will have an "answer key" identifying the commenter by the code assigned to them, correct?

Thanks,

Steve

All--

I'm starting to go through the public comments and develop some overarching summary comments that capture all of the individual input we received. I've developed a few for some of the "general" comments and would be interested in feedback to make sure I'm on the right track before going too far.

I've got someone else in my office (with a law background) helping to go through and roll up the comments into something we'll be able to respond to.

Thanks for the early feedback.

Allison
